Certified South Carolina Specialty Foods Offered in the WestWing

Certified South Carolina Products at Grand Gourmet Showroom of AmericasMart

South Carolina
Specialty Food
Association

Join the SC Specialty Food Association in the West Wing – that's the WestWing of AmericasMart® in Atlanta, Georgia!

Hugh Weathers, Commissioner of Agriculture, is pleased to announce that the SC Specialty Food Association (SCSFA) members have leased a 552-foot showroom in the Grand New Gourmet Building Two WestWing (Floor 8) of AmericasMart® to showcase their Certified South Carolina Products 365 days-a-year beginning in January 2009. South Carolina will be the first in the nation to have a showroom specifically designed for a state's specialty foods at AmericasMart®.

AmericasMart® Atlanta, an order-writing facility, is the largest permanent wholesale marketplace of its kind. Open daily, the uniquely integrated buildings house ten complete product centers and 30+ temporary collections. As an AmericasMart exhibitor, the SCSFA members will have access to the world's top buyers.

SCSFA members will have access to the showroom 24/7 to meet representatives, buyers, wholesalers, and others interested in purchasing their products. The SCSFA L-shaped showroom will feature a glass wall with sliding glass door open to the hallway. The other end will be open into the inside area leading to a high-tech, gourmet cooking stage with plasma screens and top-of-the-line appliances. The area also will feature a world-class demonstration kitchen for celebrity chef appearances like Food Network's Sandra Lee and Tyler Florence.

Christmas and Agriculture - together a long time

Deck the halls with boughs of holly. That's how one of the most famous Christmas songs begins, and the more I think about it, decking the halls with boughs of holly is one of many holiday traditions rooted in agriculture. From the tree to the Christmas ham, agriculture is a big part of the holidays.

Part of my Christmas and agriculture combination over the years very often had to do with cows getting out of the pasture on Christmas Eve or some milking equipment breaking down on Christmas Day. For dairy farmers, a quiet Christmas is a good Christmas.

Enough about Christmas at the Weathers Farms... One of the greatest stories of how agriculture has impacted the holidays is about a little red, Mexican plant that has become a symbol of Christmas. In 1825 Dr. Joel Roberts Poinsett served as the first U.S. Minister to Mexico. Most informed South Carolinians know that Poinsett hailed from South Carolina.

South Carolina Equine Industry Scholarships Awarded

Cody Noel McMillion of Hopkins was the first-place recipient and Cassie Jackson of Florence was second-place recipient of the 2008 SC Equine Industry Scholarships. The first-place scholarship, sponsored by the SC Horsemen's Council, was $1,200 and the second-place scholarship, sponsored by the SC Farm Bureau, was $1,000.

Thirteen candidates participated in the competition open to South Carolina residents in grades 10 through 12, or students enrolled in 4-year college or a recognized technical college program.

In addition to participating in the State Fair Horse Show, candidates submitted a resume and were interviewed by three equine industry professionals. Candidates also were required to take a written knowledge assessment test consisting of 50 questions covering various aspects of equine husbandry and the equine industry. Then they showcased their skills in showmanship and horsemanship.

Christmas and Agriculture

He was also a botanist who traded seeds with friends around the world. Dr. Poinsett first saw the wild plant growing along the dusty Mexican roads. Later at the market he noticed customers buying huge bunches of cuttings to decorate their homes and churches. He learned that the plant's leaves turned brilliant shades of red in November and December in response to the longer nights. When learning of the legends and customs surrounding the flaming red plant he became determined to see it grown in his own homeland. He shipped cuttings back home to his friends in Greenville, SC.

The plants were well received. Back home Poinsett began to propagate the cuttings he brought back from Mexico in his greenhouses. He also sent some to Philadelphia where they were grown in hot houses. At first they were thought to be a new species of a new genus and the plant was named after Dr. Joel Poinsett. So the poinsettia had taken root in the United States and is the symbol of Christmas for a lot of us. Our church in Bowman never looks better than it does when the poinsettias adorn the sanctuary at Christmas.

There are plenty of South Carolina growers where you can find great quality poinsettia plants. Our growers count on repeat business from their neighbors.

Oh Christmas tree, oh Christmas tree. You came to us from across the sea. There are many legends about the origins of the modern Christmas tree too. Until about 1700, the use of Christmas trees appears to have been confined to the Rhine River District in Germany. From 1700 on, when lights were accepted as part of the decorations, the Christmas tree was well on its way to becoming a tradition in Germany. Then the tradition crossed the Atlantic with the Hessian soldiers. It's even a legend that the Christmas tree saved our fledgling nation on a bitter cold Christmas Eve at Trenton, New Jersey in 1776. According to legend, Hessian mercenaries were so reminded of home by a candlelit evergreen tree that they abandoned their guard posts to eat, drink and be merry. General George Washington and his soldiers attacked that night and defeated them.

This year I encourage you to go and buy a locally grown Christmas tree from one of our many growers here in the state. Across the state there are farms where you and the family can make an afternoon out of selecting the perfect tree and cutting it down to take home for decorating. You ought not to be in a hurry because you're making memories. But, if you are short on time, swing by the Farmers Market and buy a pre-cut tree, a wreath, or pick up a poinsettia.

No matter what your family traditions or how you celebrate this time of year, I wish you all a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. And I certainly hope you don't have to chase dairy cows on Christmas Eve.

I can't wait to see the gifts agriculture will provide us in 2009!

Hugh E. Weathers, Commissioner

Festive Sandwich Wreath

- 4 (4 1/2 ounce) cans deviled ham
- 3/4 cup finely chopped celery
- 3 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 3 generous tablespoons Honey Dijon Ranch salad dressing
- 2 tablespoons sour cream
- 20 slices party rye bread
- 20 slices party pumpkinnickel bread

Combine first 5 ingredients in a small bowl; mix well. For variety, you may add either fresh chives or fresh rosemary. Chill for one hour.

Spread 20 slices of rye with ham mixture, top with pumpkinnickel bread.

Arrange sandwiches vertically around rim of 9-inch plate, alternating breads. Garnish with parsley and bow or decoration of your choice. Yield: 20 appetizer servings

Sausage Balls

- 1 pound hot sausage
- 12 ounces sharp cheddar cheese, grated
- 3 cups bisquick

Blend thoroughly. Form one inch balls. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 minutes. Serve warm. Balls may be frozen for weeks.

SGT. Crusader (1982-11 November 2008) – a valiant veteran of SC’s equine industry

One of the most distinguished veterans of South Carolina’s equine industry, Sgt. Crusader, a valiant Percheron horse in the Caisson Unit of the South Carolina Military Department, was recently honored in words by Colonel Ewell “Buddy” Sturgis. Colonel Sturgis who serves in the South Carolina State Guard with the Caisson Unit is also Curator of the SC Military Museum in Columbia. The Caisson Unit is used at the funerals of active or retired military and of law enforcement officers killed in the line of duty.

Colonel Sturgis eloquently spoke on behalf of Crusader, a horse that “gave his whole life for his country,” as Trixy Sullivan said. Trixy is the caretaker for all the horses for the Columbia Mounted Police and the Caisson Unit. When Crusader was retired from the Caisson Unit, she kept him at her home until he passed away.

Colonel Sturgis said of Crusader: I stood in the green pastures in Indiana as a young gelding and had worked on the farms. I had the greatest opportunity in my life when I was sold to the U.S. Army at Ft. Myers as a U.S. Army Caisson Horse. Ten years past quickly having worked five days a week honorably pulling the Caisson through the meadows of white crosses in the National Cemetery at Arlington and, yes, even a President of the United States. I was destined for retirement but where does an old Army horse retire. South Carolina called on me and eight of my comrades to move to their beautiful state. We were asked to continue to perform our rich tradition of giving the last honorable ride to our fallen heroes in: combat, law enforcement and political figures and we did with great dedications. We heard the bugle sound too many times and the crack of the rifle volley for men and women who had given their all. We performed our missions without questions or hesitations for over the last 12 years and I have seen my mates leave without me Sergeants Tom, Terry and Strider, but I know that we received the most love, dedications and care from both our Army Team and the SC Military Department’s Cession Team. Today was my day to say farewell and join my team mates. Thanks for the Care, Friendship and Love each of you gave me and Trixy thanks for the comfort and love in my final hours on this beautiful Veterans Day 2008. I now lay my head down and have peace.

Originally, there were six horses in the Caisson Unit, including Crusader and another Percheron which came to South Carolina after retirement from duty at Arlington National Cemetary. Now, there are four. One other member of the Caisson Unit passed away with complications from colic. Dr. Mike Privett of Hopkins, Captain for the Caisson Unit, houses the horses. Two of the Columbia Mounted Police, Officer Mike Grogan and Officer Chris Jolly, also serve on the Caisson detachment.
